Comments.

- (1) The troop train [ ] possibly carried a unit of the IV Arty Corps, probably of the 25th RL Brig, which returned to its home station. The unit had been entrained at Premnitz on 10 and 11 September 1952. [ ]

25X1 (3) The troop train [REDACTED] possibly carried artillery units of the Eighth Ods Army which returned from Altengrabow to their home station.

25X1 (4) All other troop trains [REDACTED] belong to the rail movement connected with the field exercises of the Third Shock Army in the Letzling Heath area, which started on about 20 September 1952. [REDACTED] the dispatching of components of the IV Arty Corps from Altengrabow, and components of the IX Mtz Rifle Corps from their posts and the Wittstock troop training grounds, are either confirmed or supplemented by the present information. [REDACTED]

25X1 [REDACTED] only six troop trains left Altengrabow on 18 and 19 September 1952, while, [REDACTED] 11 troop trains were dispatched from [REDACTED]

25X1 Altengrabow toward Letzling Heath on the same days. [REDACTED]
